TO RELEVANT INSTITUTIONS AND ORGANIZATIONS,
DIRECTORS (COORDINATORS)

Dear Sir / Madam,

Within the Incest Trauma Center-Belgrade ten-month campaign against sexual violence entitled „The Me Nobody Knows“, besides the general awareness-raising of the citizens on sexual violence issue, the concrete aim is to carry out an initiative towards the Ministry of Education and the Government of Serbia that during regular schooling every child should learn about gender-based violence issues and every professional should learn on what to do when confronted with this issue.

We ask You to declare, as an institution / organization, whether You agree that it is necessary for the topic of violence against children and women to be introduced into the school curricula and textbooks. Could you kindly send us Your letters of support for this initiative until December 10, 2007, by regular mail at the address of the Incest Trauma Center-Belgrade: Mačvanska 8. All the letters of support will represent a vociferous appeal towards the Ministry of Education and Government of Serbia, enhancing this initiative to be realized.

On December 10, International Human Rights Defenders' Day, the Incest Trauma Center-Belgrade will announce the results, i.e. give You feedback on which institutions / organizations (and how many of them) agree that this topic is important to be learned about on every educational level during regular schooling.

Note: To make sure we received Your letter of support, please, let us know (by phone, fax or e-mail) that You sent it, so we can expect its arrival.

Respectfully,

dr Ljiljana Bogavac
deputy director

Belgrade, November 27, 2007.
